

Behavior Specialist

Specialists in the field of behavioral science may work as community counselors, family counselors, substance abuse counselors, researchers, doctors and more. Aspiring behavioral specialists might consider enrolling in a Master of Science or Doctor of Philosophy in Behavioral Science program.

More Information: http://education-portal.com/articles/Behavioral_Specialist_Certification_and_Deg...

Career Outlook:

Career Outlook data applies to the entire United States, not just New Hampshire.

56% of jobs

2018 projected jobs

2020%

Total Annual

Openings:

Education Requirements:

Programs:

There are several educational paths to obtaining this job. Please consult your Case Manager for specific details about these opportunities.

Levels:

License and Certification Requirements:

Optional Certification

Required:

Behavioral Specialist Certification Board [2]

Certifications:

Career Categories:

Types of Work: Mental Health

Workplace Based Setting or Patients' Homes

Employment Hospital Practice or Private Company

- Home
 - Resource Library
 - Discussion Forum
 - HPOP Toolkit
 - Calendar of Events
 - Contact Us
-

Links

[1] http://education-portal.com/articles/Behavioral_Specialist_Certification_and_Degree_Program_Info.html

[2] <http://www.bacb.com/>